EUROPEAN PROGRAMMATIC MARKET SIZING 2017

REPORT
SEPTEMBER 2018

Advertising spend that is generated through transactional or workflow automation mechanisms embedded in an infrastructure that relies on a set of rules applied by software and algorithms that draw on data, commonly known as ‘ad tech’. Following the IAB’s proposed taxonomy, ‘programmatic’ here is an aggregate category that is composed of four discrete transactional models, each of which we consider a sub-set:

1. Automated Guaranteed
2. Unreserved Fixed Rate
3. Invitation-Only Auction
4. Open Auction.

Advertising spend is recognised as ‘programmatic’ whenever any of those mechanisms applies, irrespective of the inventory owner’s awareness of their involvement. This means that revenue is also considered programmatic if inventory that is originally sold to an intermediary through non-programmatic means (e.g. agency bulk buying) is re-sold to an end-buyer programmatically. Revenue is recognized as programmatic irrespective of whether the inventory owner acts directly or indirectly via an intermediary.

Market totals and definitions adhere to the IAB Europe Adex Benchmark, our annual study of overall digital ad spend, in order to ensure like-for-like comparability. All spend is recorded as gross (after discounts, before agency commission).

Data includes spend in Europe both on local/national media owner properties, and on global players like Facebook and Google.

- This study is based on raw data submitted by national IABs. Data has been edited and supplemented to ensure a full market picture and like-for-like comparison.
- Out of the 27 IABs, each representing a country, 16 IABs provided data on programmatic spend, 9 IABs submitted data on programmatic video spend, and 4 reported programmatic mobile spend.
- We have harmonised the data submitted by local IABs to ensure they refer to the same rate (gross media owner revenue), and cover the same spectrum of market participants, formats and buying models.
- Coverage gaps (no or only partial reporting) have been filled with estimates from IHS Markit’s Advertising Intelligence database, and custom econometric modelling.
